Ursula wanders urban streets and again alleys whereas having visions of Saint Ursula, the shopper saint of misplaced girls, acknowledged to were massacred in addition to 11,000 virgins en path to her bridal ceremony to a tender Pagan prince. AHP has designed and released a constrained and vibrant pocket dimension chapbook in 26 copies.

i am a poor individual to study poetry. STILL. even though I do all of it the time. I refuse to permit my very own writings to be categorised as "poetry" - thusly 'condemning' my very own extra officially experimental writings to even deeper obscurity b/c if there is something poets be interested in it really is POETRY - & no longer in writing that disavows poetry. SO, right here i'm again. Reviewing poetry. Reviewing, in particular, a bk that hasn't been formerly reviewed. My GoodReads friend, Eddie Watkins, is a wonderful reviewer of poetry. As i have written before, Eddie says anything approximately 'entering into the poetry'; i do not frequently 'enter into it', i look off Ursula it. occasionally I relate to it b/c i locate an access point, occasionally i am encouraged by way of it enuf to jot down anything fascinating that turns out by some means parallel (perhaps this is often very Amy Catanzano of me). In Earl's description of this she writes: "Ursula wanders urban streets and again alleys whereas having visions of Saint Ursula, the consumer saint of misplaced girls, stated to were massacred besides 11,000 virgins en path to her marriage ceremony to a tender Pagan prince. AHP has designed and released a constrained and vibrant pocket measurement chapbook in 26 copies." & i am venerated to have reproduction 19 of 26. What perplexes me, notwithstanding (& it truly is an age-old question), is how a lot is the reader anticipated to 'get' (ie: suppose or think) of the "Ursula wanders urban streets and again alleys whereas having visions of Saint Ursula" a part of that description? B/c I wdn't've 'gotten' that, necessarily, w/o having learn it online. possibly it isn't that important. After all, apparently it is the feeling that counts - the sensation of getting A imaginative and prescient of a few KIND. & that feeling comes across, sortof. or even it is simply Ursula poetry being poetry. Wch is not this kind of undesirable thing, I reckon. In Franz Kamin's "Crumbs of the Pie" performance, the protagonist visits a missed artist & is passed a small bk that is known as "Crumbs of the Pie" on his approach out (after too brief a visit). The protagonist does not wish it - he thinks it is 'just' poetry. Franz dreamed this performance. Then the protagonist appears to be like within the bk & sees Ursula that it includes drawings of crumbs & that those crumbs are ALIVE & it is the most pretty factor he is ever seen. He does not want the other bks after this. This bk is set an analogous measurement because the one in "Crumbs of the Pie". "look at your face you could suppose the burn those are strains spirits Ursula have touched visions of heaven fingertips that you simply locate useful your hair is white if you are fortunate you are a ghost"
